Nation's 200th Birthday Celebration Under Way

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wagon trains are scheduled to arrive in Valley Forge, Pa., sailing ships are on their way to New York's harbor, and the rest of America is on its way to a 200th birthday party full of parades, fireworks and ceremonies.

Five separate Bicentennial wagon trains, consisting of 2,000 persons in 200 wagons, have traveled 17,000 miles across country. The trains planned to make camp this afternoon in Valley Forge, where George Washington spent the winter of 1777.

President Ford plans to visit Valley Forge on Sunday, signing his name to a pledge of rededication to the principles of the Declaration of Independence. He will join 22 million other Americans who have already signed. The President is also expected to sign a bill declaring Valley Forge a national park.

From there, he goes to speak at Independence Hall in Philadelphia. At 2 p.m., the Hall's centennial bell will be rung, and bells across the nation will peal to announce the moment the Declaration was signed 200 years ago.

Ford will then go by helicopter to the deck of the aircraft carrier USS Forrestal for a look at Operation Sail, the extravaganza of sailing ships that is scheduled to take over New York harbor.

In Boston, the USS Constitution will be the center of attention. The Constitution, nicknamed "Old Ironsides" during the War of 1812, will fire its guns at noon Sunday for the first time in 95 years. Her captain, Cmdr. Tyrone Martin, promises "a very satisfying crack" from the 21-gun salute.

"We fired six test rounds last Wednesday," said Martin. "We got a four-foot flame out of the muzzle and the museum curator next door thought a bomb had gone off, until he heard the second one and remembered the firing was scheduled."

Boston and Hawaii will also team up to use light emitted by a star 200 years ago to light the lantern in the Old North Church, where legend says "one if by land, two if by sea" guided Paul Revere on his midnight ride.

The light will be captured by a telescope at the Mauna Kea Observatory in Hawaii which in turn will trip a sensor that will flip a switch lighting the lantern in the Old North Church.

In Philadelphia, a strike by garbage collectors and other city employees has caused some concern, and officials say two protests scheduled for Sunday have scared off some visitors.

But the City of Brotherly Love hopes to surmount its problems, and 635 block parties are planned for the city's neighborhoods.

Former President Richard M. Nixon plans to spend the nation's 200th birthday watching television, hosting a quiet family dinner and viewing fireworks from his home, an aide announced Friday.

Phil Keller, of West Palm Beach, Fla., also plans a private July 4, although authorities aren't sure they'll let him go ahead with his plans.

Keller wants to go over Horseshoe Falls in a red, white and blue diving bell, but a spokesman for the Niagara Frontier State Parks Commission says, "We don't encourage things like this."

Ohio In Festive Holiday Spirit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The weekend of weekends for history buffs, patriots and advertisers is upon us.

And just in time it seems. The corn is well over knee high, gasoline is abundant and the weatherman promises the second perfect weekend of the summer.

The celebrations should be heady, as we Americans will be trying to jam 200 years of historic happiness into one weekend.

Towns all over Ohio say their fireworks displays are going to be the biggest ever. A suburban Columbus man says he has created the heaviest-ever American flag, a 55,000-pound concrete block creation. The people at Kings Island family entertainment center will be participating in the longest-ever live TV program. State statisticians say the east-west traffic volume should be the heaviest ever for this holiday weekend.

All in all, the doings look to be the biggest. Who knows, maybe the best.

The National Weather Service has revised its forecast for the better. Originally showers were in view for Monday. Now the last day of the long weekend is expected to be a repeat of Saturday and Sunday — skies will be clear and temperatures should not reach far above 80 while dropping into the mid 50s or lower 60s at night.

In Dayton, the Fourth will mark the opening of the Ohio Bicentennial Aviation Festival, an event focusing on that city's aviation heritage. In Cincinnati, the weekend will end with a performance of the symphony orchestra—the finale will be a thunderous report from 300 shells fired all at once from a barge in the Ohio River. Cleveland festivities at Edgewater Park are expected to draw 200,000 to a $10,000 fireworks display. The total number of watchers is expected to include those viewing from about 1,000 boats anchored off shore in Lake Erie.

Mrs. W.R. Timken of Canton will have the long weekend to spend admiring a priceless gift she received Friday from the citizens of Colmar, France. The mayor of that eastern French city was in Ohio to give Mrs. Timken a Statue of Liberty replica created in 1875 by Francis Auguste Bertholdi. The gift was given by the city in appreciation for financial assistance from the Timken family, owners of Timken Roller Bearing Co. with a plant in Colmar.

In among all these biggest-ever claims is a traffic death toll prediction from the Department of Highway Safety. It says 23 people will die over the long weekend, nearly double the 12 who died last year over the Fourth.

The department asks motorists to obey the speed limit and warns that state patrolmen will be out in full force to see that they do.

Death Penalty Ruling Raises Questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has upheld the death penalty in some cases, but in a complex decision it also has imposed new restrictions on its use that could invalidate the law in a number of states. The court ruled 5 to 4 Friday that capital punishment laws must provide standards for the imposition of the ultimate penalty.

It also said the laws must provide some method, such as a separate trial on the penalty issue, by which the individual criminal and the circumstances of the crime could be considered.

On this basis, it struck down measures in Louisiana and North Carolina that made the death penalty mandatory for several kinds of murder.

By a separate 7-2 vote, the court ruled that the death penalty is not in itself constitutionally prohibited. It specifically upheld capital punishment laws in Florida, Georgia and Texas, which are not mandatory and do provide standards for the penalty's imposition.

An Associated Press survey indicated that 25 states have some kind of mandatory death penalty laws. There also is a federal law making death mandatory for fatal airplane hijackings.

The measures vary widely, however,

Weather

Partly cloudy today and tonight with a chance of showers or thundershowers, high today in the upper 70s with a low tonight near 60. Fair and warmer Sunday with a high in the low 80s. Chances of precipitation, 40 per cent today, 20 per cent tonight and 10 per cent Sunday. High Friday was 80 with a low during the night of 63.

Booklet On Farming Demeaning

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department is rewriting a controversial farm safety booklet described as demeaning to farm workers because it offers such advice as manure is slippery and can cause falls.

That warning and others — including "Hazards are one of the main causes of accidents. A hazard is anything that is dangerous" — have prompted congressional criticism of the booklet.

It was written from the department's Occupational Health and Safety Administration and is designed to help farmers follow new federal safety regulations that affect hired workers. A spokesman for OSHA said the initial version was intended as a primer for "lowliteracy" workers who have reading problems.

But Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., complained that the pamphlet was "so incredibly arrogant and insulting that it nearly leaves me speechless." A spokesman for the American National Cattlemen's Association said it caused "laughing with tears in our eyes."

The first edition of the booklet included these observations:

— "When floors are wet and slippery with manure, you can have a bad fall. You could trip over junk or trash."

— "Bare feet or sneakers aren't safe around cattle. Wear heavy shoes."

It takes a very special young lady to reign over a very special day in the history of our nation.

Lovely Patricia Kay Ford, returned to her former home town last night on the eve of our nation's 200th birthday to receive her crown as Ashville's Miss Fourth of July.

Joining her court of royalty were first attendant Kim Thomas and second attendant Paula Tussing.

The brown-haired, brown-eyed Miss Ford was visibly shaken and admittedly "shocked" when the panel of four judges selected her fairest of 21 candidates competing for the title.

However, she displayed the qualities that made her a queen by quickly regaining her composure. "I hope to do my very best to represent this wonderful community of Ashville," she said.

Her crowning capped a well-attended opening night for Ashville, which began its four-day bicentennial celebration. Crowds of people were in the midway and lined the route of the queen's parade, which introduced the 21 candidates.

Miss Ford, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Steele, 1017 Mulberry Road, Circleville, is a 1976 graduate of Circleville High School. She plans to attend Ohio Wesleyan University in the fall to pursue a degree that would allow her to become a teacher of mentally retarded persons.

The 5-foot, 5½-inch tall, 117-pound beauty was sponsored by R and N Steeles.

The 16-year-old Miss Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thomas, 502 Nicholas Drive, will serve as first attendant. Kim, a 5-foot, 8½-inch tall, 120-pound senior at Circleville High School, was sponsored by Nicholas Square Apartments.

Miss Tussing, the second attendant, is also a Circleville High School senior. The 5-6, 117-pound Miss Tussing is the daughter of Mrs. Kenneth Welsh, Circleville, and Paul Tussing, Ashville. She was sponsored by Yates Buick.

Other contestants in the top 10 were Miki Brown, Kelly Wells, Rhonda Vinyard, Micki Brust, Debi Gentzel, Patricia Briner, and Diana Smith.

Other contestants were Kelley Jones, Pam Hutchinson, Kim Topping, Pam Pontious, Tami Wells, Barb Hively, Tammy Shields, Beth Turner, Penny Shields, Molly Shea, and Terry Conley.

Judges for the event were Mrs. Judy Williamson, secretary of the Ohio Festivals and Events Association, and her husband, who is a school administrator in Bainbridge, and Meyer Wiseman, owner of Meyer Jewelry, Columbus, and his wife.

They met with each of the 21 contestants at a special pre-parade dinner sponsored by Reynolds Metals at the Ashville Coffee Shop.

Each of the contestants will be introduced to the crowd of well-wishers and the court said laws making death mandatory for an "extremely narrow" category of homicides might be permissible. The example given was murder by a prisoner serving a life term.

Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill said in Austin, Tex., "we are not going to see executions carried out anytime soon."

But Calif. Atty. Gen. Evelle Younger commented, "I hope we can get down to where there is an orderly carrying out of executions in the near future."

Charlotte, N.C., prosecutor Joe Freeman Britt predicted North Carolina would "go under whatever rules they've set up and move in that direction."

Ohioans Pondering Death Rule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Friday's U.S. Supreme Court decision upholding the death sentence in three other states raised questions among criminal justice spokesmen as to what it means in Ohio.

Most agreed that it will take months to resolve those questions, and predicted it would be at least a year before Ohio's electric chair could be used for the first time since March 1963.

There currently are 50 persons in Ohio prisons under the death sentence.

State Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, a member of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said he will request that the judiciary committees of both houses order a prompt staff study to determine whether decisions affecting Florida, Georgia, and Texas, also uphold Ohio's 1974 statute.

PD Releases June Report Of Activities

Twenty people were hurt in 12 injury accidents investigated by Circleville Police during the month of June, according to statistics released by Capt. Jerry Smallwood and Sgt. Wes Barton.

Police investigated 62 auto crashes during the month. Most frequent days were Wednesday and Thursday, according to the officers. The majority of accidents occurred between 3 and 5 p.m. and the most frequent violation was failure to yield.

Police spent 33½ man-hours investigating the crashes.

Officers were dispatched on 556 calls during the month, 134 more than in May. They averaged 277 miles a day or a total of 8,329 miles during the month, spent 195½ man-hours on dispatched calls, and investigated 141 offense reports.

Theft and vandalism tallied the highest in the offense category.

Police made 65 arrests during the month, including 15 for traffic violations.

Breakdown includes 19 for intoxication, four on warrants, three for petit theft and falsification, four for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, three for reckless operation and two for speed.

City Mower Falls Into Hargus Creek

James Orin, a Circleville Service Department employee, escaped injury when he jumped from a mower and tractor which plunged into Hargus Creek.

The incident occurred 3:20 p.m. Friday.

Orin was mowing grass in the 400 block of Watt St. when the tractor slipped over the curb. It's front end flew in the air, jumped an embankment, and fell upside down into the creek.

TV Students Attend OC Workshop

Teays Valley High School was represented at the Sixth Annual Moffit Clinic held June 29 through July 2 at Otterbein College in Westerville.

Among those students participating in the clinic were Gale Warner, Janie Tigner, Penny Shields, Loraine Hill, Chris Voss, Cathy Shaw, Cindy Woodruff and Kim Evers.

More than 500 students attended the workshops designed for directors, percussionists, flag, rifle and drill teams and majorettes.

Under the direction of Gary R. Tirey, director of bands at the college, the workshops featured sessions by nationally-known University of Houston bandsman, William Moffit.

Moffit, who feels that marching bands are currently enjoying their greatest popularity, has published more than 150 arrangements that are used by high school and college bands throughout the country.

at the judging site. The 10 finalists were asked questions.

Miss Ford, when asked how she would make new friends and strangers feel at ease, said that she would introduce them to her friends at Circleville High School and invite them to go places with her. She would "make them feel like one of us."

Miss Thomas, asked if parents have an easier task raising their children in today's society, thought parents have "a harder time" understanding kids today.

Miss Tussing, asked who she would like to be if given an opportunity to change places, paid a high compliment to her mother by naming her.

In other ceremonies, Maynard Marion, Fred Younkin, and Wade Tanner were given special awards as Outstanding Citizens of Ashville.

The awards were presented by Art Deal and members of the committee, Ed Irwin and Steve Cook.

A special award was given to WNRE for promotion of the festival.

The Rev. Sterling Morrow of the Village United Methodist Church gave the invocation and led contestants and spectators in the Pledge of Allegiance. Andy Ward, president and general chairman of the festival, and Richard Cook, an Ashville councilman, also welcomed the crowd.

Masters of Ceremonies were Lou Deal and P.J. Ryal.

The 1975 Miss Fourth of July, Barb Dowd, relinquished her crown to Miss Ford, who will also be wearing a special flag-design dress premiered by Miss Dowd. Last year's court of Leigh Hritz and Debbie Young was also present.

Miss Ford receives a $100 cash gift from the Ashville Community Club, which sponsors the contest, a large trophy, and a $20 gift certificate from the Deb Shop.

Miss Thomas receives a $35 cash prize, and Miss Tussing receives a $20 cash award.

In other activities, the baby parade and judging was held Saturday morning. A near record 147 contestants will compete for the Little Miss and Little Mister titles tonight following a 7 p.m. parade.

Sunday's festivities begin with a special combined church service at 10:30 a.m. at the Community Park and will close with a fireworks display at 11 p.m.

The much-awaited Independence Day parade will begin 11 a.m. Monday, and the festival will close with a fireworks show at 11 p.m.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It was mostly cloudy in the southern and central counties this morning and clear to partly cloudy in the north, with a few scattered showers reported in the central part of the state and some lightning in the Zanesville area early this morning.

Temperatures continued mild and around sunrise ranged from the 50s in the clear areas to the 60s in the cloudy parts of the state. A few scattered showers or thundershowers will occur over the southern and central counties today. This should have only a slight effect on any outdoor activity. Periods of sunshine and cloudiness will prevail over the north. Afternoon readings will climb into the 70s over most of the state.

A high pressure area, centered in the upper Great Lakes this morning will drift slowly towards Ohio and push drier air into the state over the long holiday week end.

PD Releases June Report Of Activities

Twenty people were hurt in 12 injury accidents investigated by Circleville Police during the month of June, according to statistics released by Capt. Jerry Smallwood and Sgt. Wes Barton.

Police investigated 62 auto crashes during the month. Most frequent days were Wednesday and Thursday, according to the officers. The majority of accidents occurred between 3 and 5 p.m. and the most frequent violation was failure to yield.

Police spent 33½ man-hours investigating the crashes.

Officers were dispatched on 555 calls during the month, 134 more than in May. They averaged 277 miles a day or a total of 8,329 miles during the month, spent 195½ man-hours on dispatched calls, and investigated 141 offense reports.

Theft and vandalism tallied the highest in the offense category.

Police made 65 arrests during the month, including 15 for traffic violations.

Breakdown includes 19 for intoxication, four on warrants, three for petit theft and falsification, four for operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated, three for reckless operation and two for speed.

City Mower Falls Into Hargus Creek

James Orin, a Circleville Service Department employee, escaped injury when he jumped from a mower and tractor which plunged into Hargus Creek.

The incident occurred 3:20 p.m. Friday.

Orin was mowing grass in the 400 block of Watt St. when the tractor slipped over the curb. It's front end flew in the air, jumped an embankment, and fell upside down into the creek.

TV Students Attend OC Workshop

Teays Valley High School was represented at the Sixth Annual Moffitt Clinic held June 29 through July 2 at Otterbein College in Westerville.

Among those students participating in the clinic were Gale Warner, Janie Tigner, Penny Shields, Loraine Hill, Chris Voss, Cathy Shaw, Cindy Woodruff and Kim Evers.

More than 500 students attended the workshops designed for directors, percussionists, flag, rifle and drill teams and majorettes.

Under the direction of Gary R. Tiley, director of bands at the college, the workshops featured sessions by nationally-known University of Houston bandsman, William Moffitt.

Moffitt, who feels that marching bands are currently enjoying their greatest popularity, has published more than 150 arrangements that are used by high school and college bands throughout the country.

at the judging site. The 10 finalists were asked questions.

Miss Ford, when asked how she would make new friends and strangers feel at ease, said that she would introduce them to her friends at Circleville High School and invite them to go places with her. She would "make them feel like one of us."

Miss Thomas, asked if parents have an easier task raising their children in today's society, thought parents have "a harder time" understanding kids today.

Miss Tussing, asked who she would like to be if given an opportunity to change places, paid a high compliment to her mother by naming her.

In other ceremonies, Maynard Marion, Fred Younkin, and Wade Tanner were given special awards as Outstanding Citizens of Ashville.

The awards were presented by Art Deal and members of the committee, Ed Irwin and Steve Cook.

A special award was given to WNRE for promotion of the festival.

The Rev. Sterling Morrow of the Village United Methodist Church gave the invocation and led contestants and spectators in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Andy Ward, president and general chairman of the festival, and Richard Cook, an Ashville councilman, also welcomed the crowd.

Masters of Ceremonies were Lou Deal and P.J. Ryal.

The 1975 Miss Fourth of July, Barb Dowd, relinquished her crown to Miss Ford, who will also be wearing a special flag-design dress premiered by Miss Dowd. Last year's court of Leigh Hritz and Debbie Young was also present.

Miss Ford receives a $100 cash gift from the Ashville Community Club, which sponsors the contest, a large trophy, and a $20 gift certificate from the Deb Shop.

Miss Thomas receives a $35 cash prize, and Miss Tussing receives a $20 cash award.

In other activities, the baby parade and judging was held Saturday morning. A near record 147 contestants will compete for the Little Miss and Little Mister titles tonight following a 7 p.m. parade.

Sunday's festivities begin with a special combined church service at 10:30 a.m. at the Community Park and will close with a fireworks display at 11 p.m.

The much-awaited Independence Day parade will begin 11 a.m. Monday, and the festival will close with a fireworks show at 11 p.m.

Illiteracy Remains

More than one-third of the world's adult population is estimated by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization to be illiterate. This means that hundreds of millions of the world's adults can neither read nor write, with many more who can pass only the most rudimentary tests.

Sad though this statistic is in a scientific age when education and knowledge are the human being's most precious possession's, the situation has improved somewhat from 1960, when 44 per cent of the adult population was estimated to be illiterate.

One strong factor affecting this relative improvement is the population explosion. Although they may constitute a smaller portion of the world adult population, the ranks of the illiterates are larger numerically. Which simply means there are more people around today who are considerably limited in the contributions they can make to society.

In many cases it is a matter of making no contribution at all, but rather a necessity of living off the fruits of the efforts of their more capable neighbors.

Where The Elite Meet

EDITOR'S NOTE: Phyllis Battelle is on vacation. Today's guest columnist is Sylvia Wallace whose first novel "The Fountains" (William Morris) was just published to the delight of anyone who has ever been to a fat farm - in this case a 14-karat beauty retreat for the very wealthy.

What do Lady Bird Johnson and Mrs. Bob Haldeman have in common? Barbra Streisand and Princess Grace? Joan Kennedy and Martha Raye?

They are all part of that exclusive well-heeled elite who frequent such glamorous beauty spas as The Greenhouse near Dallas, Main Chance in Phoenix, and the Golden Door in Southern California. Along with a select group of women who can afford to part with $1000 a week, plus transportation, famous names seek out these expensive playpens for such sybaritic indulgences as breakfast in bed, daily massage, languorous sauna and steamroom sessions, herbal wraps that turn tense muscles into butter, beauty treatments that include manicures, pedicures, facials and posture drills, and make-up lessons that transform gray mice into elegant swans.

Beauty spas are an American phenomenon. They do not cater to the arthritic, the ancient, or the obese. Of course, an occasional alcoholic may stagger in for a period of drying out, but essentially a beauty spa is what the name implies: a blissful cocoon where a fortunate woman may find supervised exercise, superb calorie-controlled meals (a few guests actually go to beauty spas to GAIN weight), and the kind of pampering she hasn't enjoyed since she left the cradle. In brief, a place to shape up her body and - equally important - to straighten out her head.

Surprisingly, these petted, envied women - many of whom return again and again to beauty spas - do have problems they need to ponder over or escape from. While enduring maximum exercise and minimum meals, some spa guests are simultaneously coping with personal situations the rest of us would not choose to deal with, even for the consolation prize of an unforgettable week of luxury. The political wife who shares the trials but not the glories of her husband's career, the movie star who has just split from her lover, the socialite who realizes the last face lift has not succeeded in restoring her youth, all search for solace and solutions in the gilded atmosphere of the beauty spas.

One woman who did not find either, I am told, was married to a political figure. Coming to the Golden Door at a time when her husband was under fire, she asked that the television set in the main lounge be shut off so she would not have to watch the Watergate hearings. Informed that other guests could not be deprived of viewing the event and that television must be available to all, she quietly retreated to her own room.

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite complaints that economic statistics can be misleading, many economists insist that those used in reporting major economic activities in the United States are the most professionally produced anywhere.

"They are the best and fastest in the world," said Albert Cox, chief economist of Lionel D. Edie & Co., formerly with the Council of Economic Advisers, and a man sometimes harrassed by repeated revisions.

He and many others believe the revisions, while irritating, are the result of an almost never-ending quest for perfection, following pressure from various groups for speedy release of initial data.

Because of this demand for speed, reports on such indicators as the Gross National Product may be offered in a sequence spanning many weeks, with each report supposedly more refined than the one before. The first is labeled advance, followed by preliminary and final.

Popularly used, however, the first and probably least accurate report is accepted. It is also the one that draws comment from public officials and the news media. Revisions, no matter how significant, seldom attract widespread attention.

Instead, we often seem mesmerized by the numbers, as if they were undebatable truth, proof, evidence, when in truth they may be incorrect.

Final, at any rate, may be a misnomer. Conscientious economists and statisticians sometimes revise entire years, and often excavate deep into history to do so, long after official decisions have been based on old data.

If there is anything axiomatic about the economic numbers, in fact, it is that what you accept today as the statistical truth will be revised

A new computerized machine may make a great contribution to the blind. The instrument was created by Raymond Kurzweil, who makes this statement:

"The machine is the first to be able to read out loud to the blind directly from the printed page. It's 'voice' is an odd nasal monotone. But its pronunciation is correct. It puts the emphasis on the right syllables, and can speak at a rate of up to 200 words per minute (the normal human rate.)"

A new, artificial ear drum is being tried for the repair of perforated ear drums. This biosynthetic ear drum, or tympanic membrane, has been successfully tried in experimental animals.

It is believed that people with the total absence of ear drums from old infections or injuries may be benefited. Should this technique be effective in humans, their hearing should increase.

Dr. Rodney Perkins, of Palo Alto, Calif., holds great hope that the new ear drum will be successful. He believes that the operation can be performed under local anesthesia and that hearing in carefully selected cases might improve within a few weeks.

Baseball catchers, from the major leagues down to the Little Leaguers, often develop mild, or even serious, injuries to their catching hand. Injury to the bones, the muscles and to the blood vessels may lead to permanent damage.

Dr. Cedric W. Lowrey, of the Tulane Medical School of Louisiana, is studying this problem.

To avoid the damage to the tissue of the hand, Dr. Lowrey is developing a protective glove to wear under the baseball mitt.

Until this is ready to be marketed, it would be wise, especially for youngsters, to use some kind of foam rubber or silicone padding inside the mitt.

He and many others believe the revisions, while irritating, are the result of an almost never-ending quest for perfection, following pressure from various groups for speedy release of initial data.

Because of this demand for speed, reports on such indicators as the Gross National Product may be offered in a sequence spanning many weeks, with each report supposedly more refined than the one before. The first is labeled advance, followed by preliminary and final.

Popularly used, however, the first and probably least accurate report is accepted. It is also the one that draws comment from public officials and the news media. Revisions, no matter how significant, seldom attract widespread attention.

Instead, we often seem mesmerized by the numbers, as if they were undebatable truth, proof, evidence, when in truth they may be incorrect.

Final, at any rate, may be a misnomer. Conscientious economists and statisticians sometimes revise entire years, and often excavate deep into history to do so, long after official decisions have been based on old data.

If there is anything axiomatic about the economic numbers, in fact, it is that what you accept today as the statistical truth will be revised tomorrow. The seasonal adjusting of various economic equations also brings into use what critics believe is a subjective tendency. The theory of such adjusting is to remove the effect of recurring events so as to reveal underlying trends.

In reporting retail sales, for instance, the bulge at Easter is adjusted out in order to find the continuing pattern. In January, the number of jobless is adjusted lower; otherwise, the post Christmas decline would distort the longer trend.

A big problem with this procedure is that to achieve the annual rate, to determine just what to add or to deduct, requires as many adjustments as a hunter aiming at an erratically flying duck in a gale.

The corrections, weightings, revisions, adjustments and conceptual changes — such as in the changing definition of who is unemployed — demonstrate that the mathematical precision suggested by the numbers is not always present.

Because of this, it is argued, the numbers sometimes are most unreliable at the very time they are needed most, that is, when the economy is changing and decision-makers urgently need signals of future direction.

While professionals can work with such data, although they cause trouble for them too, few laymen could be expected to understand and especially to derive useful information from them. For them, the explanation of "fluke" or "aberration" has to suffice.

Aware of the imperfections, some economists are disturbed about the increasingly popular usage of statistics that are, they say, meant more for limited, professional interpretation.

One of the more glaring misuses, they say, is to interpret one month's figures as a trend, a tendency that government officials repeatedly warn against.

Unfortunately, economists eager to recognize turns of the economy, and political and governmental figures anxious to prove that certain policies are succeeding or failing, often undermine their own cautionary advice.

Since a democracy such as in the United States depends heavily on the free flow of accurate information, the factuality of the numbers — and the proper understanding of them — becomes an issue of basic importance.

Not only are public moods and economic decisions based to a large extent on these statistical measures, but immediate business, political and government policy decisions millions of people and billions of dollars are involved.

The danger seems to be not so much the possibility of deceit and manipulation, but that the imperfect statistics often are accepted as if they were perfectly accurate and indicative of actual conditions.

Teacher Assault Measure Signed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Teachers and other school employees who are attacked and injured while on the job could take "assault leave" under a bill signed into law by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The legislation, which takes effect Sept. 30—shortly after the new school year begins—is intended to aid new teachers who have little sick leave time and others who would be forced to use up their sick leave because of an assault.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Francine Panehal, D-5 Cleveland, is permissive. Implementation of an assault leave policy would be left to the discretion of local boards of education.

Rhodes also signed Thursday, effective Sept. 30, a bill requiring state agency rules to be published and made available to the public.

The measure, authored by Rep. Vernon F. Cook, D-39 Cuyahoga Falls,

Divorces Don't Fool Tax Agents

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxpayers who slip in and out of marriage with annual quickie divorces that save taxes may find the Internal Revenue Service has something to say about their marital status.

In a move to shut off what a spokesman called a "sham transaction," the IRS said Thursday it no longer will recognize a divorce obtained merely to pay lower federal income taxes.

The issue arose when taxpayers discovered that under some circumstances the tax bill for a working married couple was higher than if they had stayed single and earned the same amount of money.

The solution for some was to obtain a divorce late in December and then remarry early in January. The IRS said it does not know how many couples employed the tactic.

It worked because tax law says an individual is considered unmarried in a particular tax year if he or she is divorced anytime before the year ends, even on the last day.

IRS put an end to the practice in an advisory ruling made in response to a query from a couple who were divorced on Dec. 30, 1975, and remarried in January 1976. The tax agency did not identify the mates.

An IRS spokesman said the agency will make no judgment on whether the quickie divorces, often obtained with a winter vacation on some Caribbean islands and in Mexico, are legal.

would create an Ohio Administrative Code, consisting of a compilation of state department rules. Most state agencies have authority to make rules that are not already specifically covered or superseded by state law.

Rhodes approved effective immediately a bill bringing podiatrists and health clinics under the protection of the state malpractice law. Sponsored by Rep. Patrick A. Sweeney, D-6 Cleveland, the new law broadens the scope of the Joint Underwriting Association, which guarantees malpractice coverage to those who cannot obtain it elsewhere.

Also effective immediately upon Rhodes signature, was legislation sponsored by Rep. Tom Fries, D-35 Dayton, permitting counties to build and operate refuse recycling plants.

It is meant to aid local governments in recycling valuable resources and convert solid waste into energy.

Rhodes also signed effective Sept. 30:

—Legislation sponsored by Rep. Helen Fix, R-26 Cincinnati, permitting state and county welfare officials to collect medical claims of welfare recipients from third party payers, such as insurance companies.

—A bill sponsored by Rep. Casey C. Jones, D-45 Toledo, requiring police officers, who encounter disabled persons in need of aid, to make an effort to determine if they are epileptic or diabetic or suffer from some other disabling disease.

$15 Million Added For Conservation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Directed by Congress, the Agriculture Department has added $15 million to a longstanding conservation program to help farmers in parts of the Great Plains carry out projects to help prevent future wind erosion.

The department said Friday that the money is being added to this year's regular $175 million allocation for the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) which, since the mid-1930s, has provided federal aid for carrying out prescribed soil and water conservation practices on farm land.

Congress appropriated the $15 million as a special allocation to help farmers repair land damaged by wind erosion during last winter's drought in parts of the Great Plains.

"Because the drought has since been broken, the money will be used for permanent conservation practices to prevent recurrence of the wind erosion problems," the department said. Farmers in 460 counties of Colorado, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas and Wyoming will be eligible to apply for money to cover 50 to 90 per cent of the cost of the wind control measures.

Officials said the subsidies will be limited to three practices: field windbreaks; permanent vegetative cover and stripcropping.

Only $10 million is being allocated now, with $5 million held for states that may need more than their initial share, the department said. The initial allocation includes: Colorado $884,342; Kansas $1,097,282; Montana $947,760; Nebraska $961,508; New Mexico $829,061; North Dakota $806,678; Oklahoma $1,016,663; South Dakota $690,219; Texas $2,403,109; and Wyoming $363,378.

5 Rate Hike Withdrawn

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Malpractice insurance rate increases ranging from 145 to 160 per cent were withdrawn Friday by the three organizations that had filed them June 1.

The rates were filed by the Insurance Service Office (ISO), a firm which represents eight or nine Ohio insurance firms that offer malpractice insurance; the Joint Underwriting Authority, a state-created body; and the Ohio Bureau of Casualty Insurers, a state organization of private insurance carriers.

Joseph K. Gilmore, assistant director of the state Department of Insurance, said the organizations plan to review the rate changes and to submit a new schedule in about two months.

The reason for the withdrawal of the rates remains a mystery. But after the June 1 increase there was an uproar in the medical community with talk of doctors leaving the state, refusing to do risky surgery, or taking early retirement.

Charles Edgar, a spokesman for the Ohio Medical Association estimated when the rates first were filed that doctors might be paying between $1,077 and $21,488 more a year, with the first figure being for general practitioners and the latter being for orthopedic surgeons.

Weapons Bill Passed By Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has approved starting production of the supersonic B1 bomber and construction of 17 more warships.

These decisions were part of a bill authorizing spending of $32.5 billion for Pentagon weapons. It was passed by the Senate 78 to 12 Thursday and sent to the White House.

Opponents of the B1 said they would continue their fight later this year during consideration of the defense appropriations bill, the measure which actually makes funds available for procurement.

The authorization bill says up to $1 billion may be appropriated for production of three B1 aircraft. The Air Force plans 244 aircraft at an estimated cost of $22 billion.

The warship spending includes a Trident submarine, a start on another Nimitz class nuclear powered carrier and eight frigates.

In other action: —A House vote of 281 to 71 sent a compromise $240-million child care bill to the Senate. President Ford vetoed the original bill, and opponents are urging him to do so again.

—The Senate approved 88 to 0 a $3.1-billion, five-year program of loans, grants and scholarships intended to attract more medical and dental students into becoming general practitioners. The bill goes to a conference committee to reconcile differences with a House version.

—The Senate passed by voice vote and sent to the House a bill designed to speed up the decision-making process on construction of a pipeline to transport natural gas from the Alaskan North Slope to the lower 48 states. The measure is similar to the law enacted for the oil pipeline now being built.

—President Ford signed a bill increasing the nation's temporary debt ceiling to $700 billion.

Preschool Ends Year With Family Picnic

The RoseLane Preschool finished a full year of activities May 26 with a family carry-in picnic. The evening's activities included a special program of songs, a poem and a play presented by the children. Teacher, Sara Barnes, presented diplomas and a bicentennial flag to each child.

Since September these three and four year olds have learned how to play with others through supervised games and activities. With numerous games and fun they increased their motor skills including eye-hand coordination, visual perception, auditory discrimination, visual memory, auditory memory, and concentrating and paying attention.

The curriculum, set-up by Mrs. Nathan Wilson included formal presentation of colors, counting, letters of the alphabet, shapes, days of the week, months of the year, learning their name, address and telephone number, planets and dinosaurs, names of animals and parts of the body.

Other areas as history, literature, art, music as well as the physical and social side of the children were not neglected. The mothers of the children shared by taking turns teaching and supplying nutritious snacks.

The children were stimulated by group tours throughout the year. They included trips to: Columbus Zoo, Ohio Historical Center, The Circleville Herald, Circleville Court House, The Sheriff Department, The local Police Department, Pennington Bakery, WNRE Radio Station, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Castle Farm animals, Pickaway Township Fire Department, Circleville Fire Department, Circleville Post Office, The Columbus Airport, The Savings Bank, Harden Chevrolet Body and Fender Repair Shop, and Center of Science and Industry.

The mothers participating were: Sandra Combs, Pam Jones, Dorothy Lynn, Ruth Christopher, Shirley Stout, Brenda Graf, Diane Goff, MaryLou Lauper, Ruth Eakin, Marilyn Wolfe, Janet Dawson and Jane Lynn.

Presently, a Summer Day Camp directed by Sarah Barnes for children ages 3 to 8 years has openings. Call 986-5333. Ruth Wilson is planning a Play and Storytime for two year olds once a week and a preschool for 3 and 4 year olds, three mornings a week for next fall. If interested call 474-4019.

Senior Citizens Visit Girl Scouts At Camp Miska

Camp Miska, Pickaway County's Girl Scout Camp located in Salt Creek Township with the pictorial view of the Hocking Hills was the scene of the mingling of the young and old. The bus of the Girl Scouts picked up the Senior Citizens at 10:30 a.m. at the center and arrived at camp at 11:00 a.m.

The ceremony of the raising of the American Flag and Camp Miska Flag with color guards was conducted by the Cadette Troop. All joined in the Pledge of Allegiance and singing the Star Spangled Banner and Happy Birthday America.

Katie Wamsley, camp director, welcomed everyone and said to enjoy the day with visiting the camp sites and crafts made by the girl scouts. At the craft each Senior Citizen could pick the craft the girls made as souvenirs to take home.

The lunch menu consisted of relish trays, hotdogs and spaghetti, all prepared by the girls. Fruit and cookies were brought by the Senior Citizens. A table grace was sung by everyone.

The Brownie camp leaders were Mrs. Marvin Stout and Mrs. Robert Scranton. The Fly-up camp leader was Mrs. Gilbert Wamsley. The Junior camp leaders were Mrs. Dwight Hershey and Miss Joy Van Gundy. The Cadette camp leaders were Mrs. Dole Edwards, Miss Cheryl Hawkins and Miss Tina Woods. The business manager was Mrs. Robert Nothstine. The boys camp leaders were Mrs. Walter Wood and Miss Traci Ward.

In the afternoon the girl scouts sang folk songs and played singing games. Senior Troop 2001 demonstrated saving techniques of a fire victim on a ladder and also how to get a fire victim down from a roof with rope technique. They also demonstrated victims in accidents as if in real life situations and how to help the victims.

The Advisor of Troop 2001 is Ginny Sherman of the Emergency Preparedness For Youth.

The Senior Citizens Kitchen Band entertained the scouts with several songs and the accompanist was Ray Beery on an electric piano.

The Senior Citizens are invited to Camp Miska in 1977.

All enjoyed the day and fellowship of youth and their hospitality to the Senior Citizens and we are looking forward to next year.

1 PATRICK HENRY'S "TREASON" SPEECH
May 1765
Addressing the Virginia Assembly, Patrick Henry introduced a resolution denying the right of the British Parliament to tax America. When Royal members of the legislature yelled "treason", Henry answered: "If this be treason, make the most of it."

2 PROTESTING THE STAMP ACT
Summer, 1765
Royal stamps and effigies of their distributors were burned in public places to protest the British Stamp Act which required that a tax be placed on newspapers, almanacs, pamphlets, broadsides, legal documents—even playing cards.

3 THE BOSTON MASSACRE
March 5, 1770
Fired on directly for protesting the presence of British troops in the Boston market place, three men were killed and several others wounded by British soldiers. This and similar incidents over a long period finally led to the need for a Declaration of Independence, and the Revolutionary War.

4 THE BOSTON TEA PARTY
December 16, 1773
Dressed as Mohawk Indians, Boston patriots boarded three British ships at anchor in the harbor, and threw their tea cargoes overboard to show American resistance to the three-pence-per-pound duty imposed on tea by the British government.

5 THE MINUTE MEN
Our first American soldiers were farmers who agreed to rise to arms in the defense of their land should we be attacked by British troops. In Massachusetts alone there were more than 20,000 Minute Men. Their resistance at the towns of Lexington and Concord marked the opening battles of the Revolutionary War.

6 PAUL REVERE'S RIDE
April 19, 1775
On the eve of the battle at Lexington, Paul Revere rode through the countryside to warn the minute-men that the British soldiers were coming. The minute-men, thus warned, were able to gather and defend themselves so well that they caused the British to retreat.

7 BATTLE OF BUNKER HILL
June 17, 1775
Both the British in Boston and the American troops around it had built up their strength. At night the Americans constructed a series of trenches and fortifications on Breed's Hill, in the Bunker Hill area. Attacked the next day by the British, the American militiamen were able again and again to repel the British forces, until their powder ran out. Cost to the British, 1,054 casualties; to the Americans, 100 dead, 267 wounded.

8 THE SIGNING OF THE DECLARATION
August 2, 1776
Having voted on July 5, 1776 to ratify the Declaration of Independence, the fifty-four voting members of the thirteen colonies present were joined on August 2 by two other members to officially sign the new parchment scroll, today perhaps America's most precious document.

9 WASHINGTON CROSSING THE DELAWARE
December 25, 1776
While British troops were enjoying the Christmas holiday, George Washington led 2,500 of his men across the ice-swollen river and marched to Trenton where he captured British-Hessian outposts by surprise.

10 VALLEY FORGE
January 1778
At the beginning of the fourth year of the war for independence, nearly three thousand American troops had neither shoes, adequate clothing, or even a bed to lie on, and were unfit for duty, at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, Winter quarters of the army.

11 SURRENDER OF CORNWALLIS
October 19, 1781
In this last and most decisive battle of the Revolutionary War, Lord Cornwallis, leader of the British forces at Yorktown, Va., was so humiliated by the defeat and capture of his 7,000 men that he would not surrender his sword personally to the victorious Washington and Lafayette, and had it brought by an associate.

12 WASHINGTON'S INAUGURATION
April 30, 1789
The first presidential election held under the new Constitution took place on January 4, 1789. Voters chose electors who on February 4th unanimously elected George Washington, President. John Adams was elected Vice-President. On April 30, 1789, Washington's inaugural ceremony took place at Federal Hall, New York City.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON TAX BUDGET

Two copies of the Tax Budget as tentatively adopted for the City of Circleville in Pickaway County, Ohio, are on file in the office of the City Auditor of said City. These are for public inspection, and a Public Hearing on said Budget will be held at the Council Chambers in said City, on Thursday, the 15th day of July, 1976, at 8:00 o'clock P.M.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Swinger's Wife Not Into Mate-Swapping

DEAR ABBY: When my husband first suggested that we join a swingers club and switch partners with other couples who advertised their availability in a porno magazine, I told him I wasn't interested. (He's 34, I'm 30 and we've been married 10 years.)

He called me a prude and said that swinging was a common practice with married couples. (Is it?) I told him I would divorce him if he ever fooled around like that.

I thought the subject was forgotten, then I found a letter he had written to this club saying he wanted to participate, but he would have to be discreet because his wife wasn't interested. I wasn't snooping, Abby; the letter was lying on top of the desk in our den. With the letter was a Polaroid picture he had taken of himself in a mirror naked!

I've always trusted him until now. What should I do? File for a divorce or forget I saw the letter? I am sick to death over this.

HURT AND DESPERATE

DEAR HURT: Tell him you saw the letter and picture, and ask him to see a marriage counselor with you. He needs to have his head straightened out if you're to get your marriage back on the right track.

He's wrong. Respectable married couples do not exchange sex partners with other couples. THAT is the beginning of the end.

DEAR ABBY: I have been widowed for four months. About six weeks ago I took a bus trip to the West Coast from Illinois. While waiting in the bus terminal for the bus to be serviced, I met a nicelooking, well-dressed gentleman. He asked me to have a cup of coffee with him, and before I boarded the bus he asked me for my address. He said he came through my town often and wanted to see me again.

Well, I wasn't back home very long when this man called and said he was in town. He took me out for dinner and we had a fine time. He calls me long distance every night and comes to see me every weekend.

He wants to marry me, but I am not sure I want to marry him because he's been married and divorced four times. He admits he has no money because

4 Men To Join Ag Hall Of Fame

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Four men will be inducted into the Ohio Agricultural Hall of Fame during ceremonies Aug. 27 at the state fairgrounds, the Ohio Agricultural Council announced.

John H. Dunlap, of Williamsport, an agribusinessman, and John D. Siebenthaler of Dayton, a horticulturist, will be on hand for the ceremonies.

Posthumous awards will be presented to the families of A.Z. Baker of Kinsman, a livestock marketing pioneer, and Joel S. Coffey of Columbus, a pioneer in swine scientific production.

Fund Drive Tops $100,000 Goal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A fund drive to provide financial assistance for minority students in business administration at Ohio State University passed its $100,000 goal recently.

The fund will provide up to $2,000 for selected minority students who make up 5 per cent of the school of administrative science.

his last wife took him for everything he had. He has no health or life insurance, but he does have high blood pressure, emphysema and diabetes. I am 58 and he is 62.

Common sense tells me to turn around and run like mad, but I think I'm falling in love with him, and my heart seems to be ruling my head. I'm not a rich woman, but I'm not poor either.

My children are begging me to quit seeing him. Should I?

IN LOVE OR LONELY?

DEAR IN LOVE: I'd say, heed your common sense, Ma'am, and don't make any important decisions unless you are absolutely sure you can live with them.

DEAR ABBY: My fiancé and I were making plans for our wedding when a problem came up. He asked me if I minded if he asked a girl to be his "best man." He says she is his best friend.

I didn't want to hurt his feelings, so I didn't say flat out that I minded: I just said maybe he should give it a little more thought.

Abby, I come from a very conventional family, and I don't want a girl to be "best man" at my wedding even if she is my fiancé's best friend.

Can you suggest a tactful way to let my fiancé know that I would prefer that he ask a male?

To be perfectly honest about it, my main objection is that I am afraid people will make fun of us, and I don't want anything to spoil my wedding day.

VERMONT BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: Since the expected ridicule would take the joy out of your wedding, level with your fiancé and ask him to select a male for the best man.

People Helping People

By STEVE BARTELS
County Extension Agent, 4-H

Bicycling is an important part of the 4-H program in Pickaway County. Over 100 4-H members 9-19 throughout the county have learned about the enjoyment of riding a bike more safely. They have learned safety rules of the road and bike maintenance.

In a recent issue of the National Safety Council publication "Farm Safety Review," some excellent tips were presented as a motorists' guide to bicycle safety. These tips would be a valuable addition to our on-going 4-H bicycle program in Ohio.

1. If you see a bicycle, think car (don't crowd the bicycles).

2. At intersections give the cyclist all the room he needs. Don't pinch the cyclist between your car and the curb.

3. Treat driveways as intersections. Stop and look both ways even if you are entering a one-way street.

4. When passing the cyclist, tap your horn, and make room for the wobbly zig-zag course he often steers.

5. Because bicycles can travel 30 MPH and you can't pass the cyclist, maintain a safe following distance. Remember, if a cyclist has to stop he runs an extra risk of sliding and spilling.

6. During night driving, assume the cyclist is closer than you think.

7. Before you fling that car door open, look first to see if anything is coming.

8. If you haven't driven a bicycle recently, try it. You'll see how dangerous it can be for a cyclist out there on the other side of your car's bumper.

We hope to teach our members to be more conscious of the automobile and hope you will extend the same courtesy to them.

As late as 1830, Cleveland, now Ohio's largest city, was a small village of scarcely 1,000 people, compared to Cincinnati's population of 25,000.

CANING — Learning chair caning are, left to right, Marie Palm, Jean and Bob Michelfelder, Jane Wilson, and Mae Ross, participants in a caning class sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service. The three-session workshop has twenty-seven enrollees. Teachers are Beverly Bechtel, Home Economics Extension Agent, and Jennie Wharton, homemaker. Projects include many antique chairs and rockers. For a booklet and information on caning, contact the Extension Office at 474-7534.

News For Homemakers

By BEVERLY SEYMOUR BECHTEL
County Extension Agent,
Home Economics

July will be such a busy month getting ready for the fair. To answer some questions I am receiving:

—Information and rules for the Women's Division at the fair can be obtained from Mary Clark, Route 2, Circleville.

—A new homemakers' club will be organized in Circleville. Club meeting days are needed here. The new group, we'll call them the "Brunch Bunch" for now, will meet on Wednesday mornings. An organizational meeting will be held on July 14th at Pickaway Arms. Registration will begin at 9:45 a.m. The meeting will last from 10:00 to 12 noon. Cost of registration is $1.75 and includes beverage, juice and sweet rolls. Please register by contacting the Extension Office (474-7534).

Extension homemaker clubs are groups of women who meet once or twice a month to share ideas, arts, skills, crafts and have many individual club activities. They are unique in that they receive educational programs and information from the Ohio State University through the Cooperative Extension Office. Clubs can choose from lessons offered each month, or they can create their own program. Anyone wishing to organize a club in her area should contact me at the Extension Office.

—It is not too late to register for the Women's Bicentennial Program at the Ohio State University on July 20th. Cost of the program, including lunch, is $4.50. Let me know if you need a registration form. You can register after July 9th, but lunch will not be guaranteed.

Zucchini squash is in, especially for all the 4-H gardeners. We tried the bush zucchini given to members, too, and it's really terrific. If you like zucchini, this bush variety really saves space in the garden. Try one of the zucchini bread recipes popular last year (let me know if you need the recipe). I like zucchini prepared this way: slice and saute along with a small amount of onion in a small skillet — add a couple tablespoons of water, cover and steam a few minutes until tender. I also vary this by adding either a small amount of catsup or a fresh cut up tomato. Salt and season to taste. I've found a few rosemary leaves sprinkled over really is flavorful. If you have a cheese fan, grate a little sharp cheddar and sprinkle over the hot zucchini. Replace lid for a minute or two. The steam melts the cheese over the zucchini.

Vegetables can be so delicious and of course are tremendous nutrition sources. For further ideas on vegetable cookery, ask for our free booklets "Popular Ways to Serve Vegetables" and "Versatile Salads."

Let's compare a few of the products you can choose from. Four ounces of either juice or drink is one serving. You will note that the cost of one serving of either juice or drink drops as the size of the can, carton or package becomes larger. For example, cost of a four-ounce serving of:

Frozen concentrate juice — 12 ounce can, 4½ cents; 6 ounce can, 5 cents.

Fruit drink, ready-to-serve (canned) — 8 ounce can (6 pack), 12½ cents; 46 ounce can, 4½ cents.

Fresh juice (bottles) — 1 quart, 8½ cents; 2 quarts, 7½ cents.

Fruit drink, concentrate (dry mix) — 24 ounce package, 2¼ cents; 45 ounce package, 1¾ cents. (These are Columbus prices)

A one-half or one cent cost per serving difference can mean savings of dimes to dollars depending on how much the family uses. Compare prices by figuring the cost for each serving.

Fruits are important for the vitamins and minerals found in them. Most fresh, raw, and unsweetened fruit are lower in calories while those canned in heavy syrup are higher.

Don't Destroy Evidence Of Crop Damage

Disaster program eligibility for wheat and feed grains is dependent on evidence of crop damage, Roy Dunkle, chairman of the Pickaway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ACS) said.

Producers who believe they may be eligible or may later become eligible for disaster payments (for wheat, barley, corn and grain sorghum crops) should notify the local county ASCS office of intentions to destroy acreage before actual destruction of any crop acreage.

Dunkle noted, "If a producer believes that the disaster has caused a substantial loss to his program crops, and he chooses not to carry a portion of these crops through harvest, he should notify the county office. He should not destroy the residue — nor graze, greenchop, cut for silage, nor hay the feed crops residue — until he has notified his local county office."

An ASCS farm visit will be made to determine crop loss.

The disaster program for wheat and feed grains is authorized by the Agricultural and Consumer Protection Act of 1973. Coverage under provisions of the Act extends only to planted acreage up to the historical allotment on each farm.

Protect Stored Grain From Insects

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Insect pests in stored grains cost Ohio farmers at least $10 million annually.

Insects hollow out the grain, destroy the germ, and cause hot areas that result in spoilage and fungus growth, says William F. Lyon, Extension Entomologist at The Ohio State University. He suggests that grain producers begin preparing storage facilities now for the coming new crops.

To avoid losses from insects, build or use well-constructed storage facilities, he says. Avoid storing grains in buildings that house hay, straw, feed or animals. Such buildings constitute a constant source of pest feeding and reproduction. If you're building new storage, provide for easy inspection and sampling of grains, he urges.

In existing storage bins, clean and sweep down bin ceilings, walls and floor. Remove old grain and dust left from previous year's crops. Clean up grain spilled outside or under the bin. Do not overlook feed accumulation in other areas on the farm such as truck beds, old machinery, etc. where insects can continue feeding and reproducing.

If it is not convenient to remove existing old grains, use an insecticide treatment of malathion-premium (Cythion), pyrethrins with piperonyl butoxide, methoxychlor, or fumigate before new grains are added. Always follow label directions and precautions. Fumigation should be done by trained, experienced operators working in pairs.

Apply a residual spray to empty bins. After the bins have been cleaned and repaired, spray ceilings, walls and floors at least 2 weeks before storing new grain with malathion - premium grade, or methoxychlor to the point of run off. Then let the bin dry thoroughly before adding the grain. Where possible, also treat the outside of the bins.

Store only dry, clean, sound grain. Any grain stored above 12 per cent moisture content is susceptible to heating, fungus growth and stored grain insect infestation. The drier the grain, the longer it can be safely stored. Excessive amounts of cracked grain attract insects more readily.

Treat grain going into storage. After the bin or storage area has been cleaned and treated, you can go a step further by spraying or dusting the grain stream going into the storage area. EPA registered formulations of malathion, methoxychlor or pyrethrins may be used. Once the bin is filled with treated grain, treat the grain surface to discourage insects. It is a good management practice to run the ventilation fan for 6 hours every day until grain temperature falls below 40 degrees F.

Check grain every 30 days, especially during the warm summer and autumn months. Determine the insect infestation by taking the grain temperature and by visual inspection.

Lyon says there is no waiting period from application of pesticide until use for feed and/or human consumption. However, it may be wise to wait 4 to 6 hours before use, permitting treated grains to dry thoroughly.

More information is available in Extension Leaflet 153, "Stored Grain Insect Control." Ask your County Extension Agent for a copy.

Soldier Charged With Slaying

CLINTON, N.C. (AP) — A Ft. Bragg soldier has been charged with murder in the shooting death of an Ohio man whose body was found here May 7, according to a spokesman for the Sampson County Sheriff's Department.

The spokesman said Donald Owen Batdorff, 23, of Conneaut, Ohio, was charged in the death of Leroy Emerson West, 23, of Ohio. His hometown was not listed.

West, a truck driver, had been missing since Jan. 17, the spokesman said. His body, wrapped in a blanket and ropes, was found in a pond in Sampson County.

Batdorff was arrested June 22, the spokesman said. West's truck, which had been missing, was recovered when Batdorff was arrested.

Some Pest Control Firms Unreliable

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Don't be a "sucker" if you have a pest problem. Select a reliable pest control firm. It pays to investigate a firm before hiring its services, because an occasional incompetent or fraudulent one will make you believe you have pest problems that don't exist.

William F. Lyon, Extension Entomologist at The Ohio State University, suggests several steps for homeowners to consider before hiring services of a pest control firm.

Deal only with a reliable pest control firm. One that has an established place of business and a good, professional reputation. If in doubt, take time to check with the Better Business Bureau, Consumer Protection Agency, or your local county agricultural Extension Agent.

Most reputable firms belong to a state and/or national pest control association. The Ohio Pest Control Association requires ethical standards before admission into this association, he says. Most of the progressive, up-to-date firms send their servicemen or other employees to attend the Ohio Pest Control Operators' short course, sponsored each year by the Department of Entomology at Ohio State University.

A reputable firm does not use high pressure sales techniques and "scare tactics" in order to get the job. It is always advisable to check references where the firm has performed service, Lyon says. And a reliable firm will not hesitate to give references upon request.

Always get more than one competitive estimate before buying service. But, keep in mind that the lowest bid may not always be the best deal. Weigh all pros and cons before making a final decision.

The County Extension Office has a roster of the Ohio Pest Control Association members and will provide you with the names for your selection.

Feed Efficiency Unrelated To Size Of Beef Cattle

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Beef producers are interested in efficiency in the cattle they feed. In simple terms, they want to put a pound of high quality beef on the counter with the least amount of feed needed to get the job done!

An Ohio animal scientist reported that a half dozen years of studies on cattle of various breeds and sizes showed no significant differences in efficiency among cows of different sizes or breeds. Dr. Earle Klosterman, professor of animal science at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center Wooster, reported his findings at the 29th annual Reciprocal Meat Conference of the American Meat Science Society at Provo, Utah.

Klosterman said the Ohio experiments measured energy requirements for maintenance, growth, and finishing. The researchers considered total feed required to maintain a cow for a year plus that required by her calf as it was fed out to slaughter condition.

As long as the animals were fed to the same degree of finish, there were no significant differences among sizes of cattle in the amount of feed required per unit of gain. Klosterman said there was a significant relationship between feed efficiency and relative gain (gain per unit of weight) but no differences in terms of the total pounds of feed required to produce one pound of edible beef.

Researchers and beef producers had questioned whether the nutrient requirements published by NRC (National Research Council) could be used for some of the larger exotic beef breeds from other parts of the world which are now showing up in U.S. feedlots. The Ohio study confirmed that the NRC energy requirements are accurate for all sizes of cattle.

Klosterman said differences among types of cattle were similar to differences among sexes. Earlier-maturing types consumed more feed per unit of weight, but they finished at younger ages and lighter weights. Heifers of small type appeared to be best suited to deferred-systems of management - or to lower energy diets. Steers of larger type were best suited to feeding the high energy diets at young ages.

How do you pick an efficient type of beef animal? Klosterman said traits associated with increasing energy efficiency appear to be feed intake or gain per unit of metabolic size and the ability to finish at a desirable carcass weight. Thus, cattle which will produce the most carcass weight of the desired grade at the youngest age will be most efficient.

The Ohio research was among a number of studies reviewed during the meat conference, being held this week on the campus of Brigham Young University. The American Meat Science Society is a scientific association of research scientists, Extension workers, and others involved in research and education with meat animals.

News For Homemakers

By BEVERLY SEYMOUR BECHTEL, County Extension Agent, Home Economics

July will be such a busy month getting ready for the fair. To answer some questions I am receiving:

—Information and rules for the Women's Division at the fair can be obtained from Mary Clark, Route 2, Circleville.

—A new homemakers' club will be organized in Circleville. Club meeting days are needed here. The new group, we'll call them the "Brunch Bunch" for now, will meet on Wednesday mornings. An organizational meeting will be held on July 14th at Pickaway Arms. Registration will begin at 9:45 a.m. The meeting will last from 10:00 to 12 noon. Cost of registration is $1.75 and includes beverage, juice and sweet rolls. Please register by contacting the Extension Office (474-7534).

Extension homemaker clubs are groups of women who meet once or twice a month to share ideas, arts, skills, crafts and have many individual club activities. They are unique in that they receive educational programs and information from the Ohio State University through the Cooperative Extension Office. Clubs can choose from lessons offered each month, or they can create their own program. Anyone wishing to organize a club in her area should contact me at the Extension Office.

—It is not too late to register for the Women's Bicentennial Program at the Ohio State University on July 20th. Cost of the program, including lunch, is $4.50. Let me know if you need a registration form. You can register after July 9th, but lunch will not be guaranteed.

Zucchini squash is in, especially for all the 4-H gardeners. We tried the bush zucchini given to members, too, and it's really terrific. If you like zucchini, this bush variety really saves space in the garden. Try one of the zucchini bread recipes popular last year (let me know if you need the recipe). I like zucchini prepared this way: slice and saute along with a small amount of onion in a small skillet — add a couple tablespoons of water, cover and steam a few minutes until tender. I also vary this by adding either a small amount of catsup or a fresh cut up tomato. Salt and season to taste. I've found a few rosemary leaves sprinkled over really is flavorful. If you have a cheese fan, grate a little sharp cheddar and sprinkle over the hot zucchini. Replace lid for a minute or two. The steam melts the cheese over the zucchini.

Vegetables can be so delicious and of course are tremendous nutrition sources. For further ideas on vegetable cookery, ask for our free booklets "Popular Ways to Serve

Vegetables" and "Versatile Salads."

Let's compare a few of the products you can choose from. Four ounces of either juice or drink is one serving. You will note that the cost of one serving of either juice or drink drops as the size of the can, carton or package becomes larger. For example, cost of a four-ounce serving of:

Frozen concentrate juice — 12 ounce can, 4½ cents; 6 ounce can, 5 cents. Fruit drink, ready-to-serve (canned) — 8 ounce can (6 pack), 12½ cents; 46 ounce can, 4½ cents.

Fresh juice (bottles) — 1 quart, 8½ cents; 2 quarts, 7½ cents.

Fruit drink, concentrate (dry mix) — 24 ounce package, 2¼ cents; 45 ounce package, 1¾ cents. (These are Columbus prices)

A one-half or one cent cost per serving difference can mean savings of dimes to dollars depending on how much the family uses. Compare prices by figuring the cost for each serving.

Fruits are important for the vitamins and minerals found in them. Most fresh, raw, and unsweetened fruit are lower in calories while those canned in heavy syrup are higher.

THE DEERCREEK BUSY BEES

By Phoebe Shaw
The Deercreek Busy Bees met at the United Methodist Church on June 29. Krista Hawks and Rita Beard showed us how to make a homemade pizza. During the meeting we discussed the theme for our fair booth and painting trash cans to be used in town. A refreshment committee for the Mothers' Tea was appointed. The next meeting will be a tour to start from the Church on July 13, at 9:30 a.m. Each member is to bring two 14" square pieces of material to the next meeting.

ALICE'S ANGELS

By Jessie Woodruff
Members met at the home of Kathy, Cindy and Jessie Woodruff on June 22. We brought material for the quilt we are making for a needy family and worked on it during the meeting. An invitation was read from the Groveport Buttoners to attend their style review on July 8, 7:30 p.m., at the Hopewell Church, followed by a square dance at Hilliards. Members decided to tour the Circleville Herald and WNRE radio station on July 23. On June 8 members met at the home of Crystal and Joan Woolever. A demonstration on modeling was given by Mrs. Beverly Weller. We discussed selling Ohio State Fair tickets. The demonstration clinic will be held on July 11. Members decided to have a picnic and swim party at Lake Isabella. The next meeting will be held at Darcy Kidwell's home on July 6, at 7:30 p.m.

SALT CREEK SEW AND SERVE

By Teryl Hartrant
Our club had a meeting at the Logan Elm School on June 29. Kathy Hupp had devotions, and Kim Roark led the pledges. We thanked Terri Williams for representing our club in the Safety Speaking Contest. Members will tour the telephone company on July 22. Local judging will be on July 26. Refreshments were served by Teresa Hupp, Jane Eberhart, Cheryl Johnston, Shelley Thatcher, and Kim and Terri Williams. The next meeting will be held at the Logan Elm School on July 12, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

MERRY MIXERS

By Soni Miner
The Merry Mixers met at 343 Meadow Lane on June 24. During the meeting we made flowers for the rest homes. The next meeting was held at 343 Meadow Lane on July 1, at 10 a.m.

RECYCLING

By Mike Seckman
A meeting was held at 579 Hickory Place on June 14. Kenny Gray showed us how to fix a light. During the next meeting we worked on window scrapers made of Plexiglass. Refreshments were served by Carlton Morris.

LOGAN ELM FASHIONETTES

By Marlane
Andy Marsha Stulley
The Logan Elm Fashionettes held their fifth meeting at the home of Libby Bowling on June 23. Pam Konkle talked about her trip to 4-H Club Congress. The following members gave a health or safety talk: Marlane Stulley — Outdoor cooking safety; Libby Bowling — Kitchen safety; Marsha Stulley — Mowing safety; Julie Reichelderfer — Bicycle Safety; Holly Konkle — Walking on the highway; Jackie Cave — Safe driving; Debby Davis — Personal health; Pam Konkle — Babysitting safety; Brenda Konkle — Boating safety; and, Ramae Huggins — Healthy hair. We took a hanging basket of assorted flowers to the Circleville Nursing Home; also, each member brought two dozen homemade cookies to be put on the supper trays. Member with Outdoor Cooking projects spent June 22 at Old Man's Cave working on their projects. The next meeting will be a wiener roast to be held at the Stulleys' home on June 6, at 6:45 p.m. Sewing girls are to bring their projects.

WAYNE TWP. THREAD AND THIMBLES PLUS

By Suella Erwin
Members met at the Township House on June 23. We discussed cleaning up the new baseball diamond at the end of Sisk-Westfall Road. A theme for our fair booth was decided upon. Refreshments were served by Anne Tarbill and Dee Ann Kingery. The Next meeting will be held at the Township House on July 14, from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Mary Seckman and Elizabeth Yaple will be in charge of refreshments.

STIR AND CHATTER

By Jackie Miller
Members met at Mrs. Poling's on June 22. Mrs. Myers helped members with their sewing projects. Plans were made to go out to dinner, followed by the Kenley Players or a movie, on July 27. For a community project members will deliver Franciscan Meals this summer. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Poling, advisor, on July 21, at 10 a.m. All members who have not paid their dues are to bring them to Peggy Uland at this meeting.

PERRY FARMERS OF TOMORROW

By Donna Johnson
Members met at the Atlanta Church on June 23. Duanne Roberts gave a demonstration on hogs. Participating in the Safety Speaking Contest on June 24 were: Betsy Day, Jeff Day, Missy Sowers and Dee Ann Hott. Members will tour the Pennington Bakery on June 30. "Bicentennial Night," scheduled for June 27 was postponed for a later date. An "electric meeting" was held on June 26, and a "welding meeting" on June 28. Refreshments were served by Karen Conrad and Jody Wolford. The next meeting will be held at the Atlanta Church on July 14, at 7 p.m.

BUTTONS AND BOWLS, SR.

By LaDonna Brevard
Members met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bolender on June 24. Pledges were led by Debbie Betz and Susan Hoffman. The following members gave a demonstration: Marilyn List — String art; Sherry Stewart — How to make homemade biscuits; LaDonna Brevard — Herbs and spices used in foods; Susan Hoffman — The care for a jade plant; Debbie Betz — How to hide loose sewing threads; and, Judi List — Special hints for baking bread. We will sing a song for the talent screening contest. Debbie Betz was elected our queen candidate. For decorations on our fair booth we will have pictures of members with their projects. For refreshments Sherry Stewart served homemade biscuits. The next meeting will be held at the home of LaDonna Brevard on July 8, at 6 p.m.

WALNUT WONDER WORKERS

By Nanette Martin
The Walnut Wonder Workers met at the Martins' home on June 14. We discussed our community project and the project tour. Refreshments were served by the Lockards.

WESTFALL LIVESTOCK

By Sharon Stevenson
Members met at the Wayne Twp. Election House on June 14. Pledges were led by Betty Yaple and Scott Mowery. Susan Stevenson presented a beef program. Patty Horst will represent our club in the Jr. division of the Safety Speaking Contes. G. R. Yaple will represent our club in the senior division. Our club will give $30 toward the purchase of scales at the fairgrounds. Each member will get 5 tickets to sell for the Ohio State Fair. On Saturday, June 26, members cleaned up the new Township baseball diamond. Roger McCabe and G. R. Yaple will give the program for the swine meeting. Refreshments were served by John Hoffman and Craig Schein.

JACKSON JOLLY TASTERS AND BASTERS

By Kendra Spires
A meeting was held at the Darbyville Nazarene Church on June 22. We decided to go to Goldcliff for swimming on July 6, at 11 a.m. Mrs. Don Martin served refreshments.

SCIOTO MOD MENDERS

By Debbie Becker
The Scioto Mod Menders had a meeting in June. We worked on our projects (scarves, skirts, tote bags, tops, pants, jumpers and dresses). Most of our projects are almost finished. Refreshments were served by Christine Green. The next meeting will be held at the Commercial Point United Methodist Church on July 8, from 7:15 to 9 p.m.

PICKAWAY FUN BUNCH

By Theresa Patrick
The Pickaway Fun Bunch went on their club tour on June 15. We visited the County Jail, the Court House, WNRE and the Pickaway Twp. Fire House. Rhonda Damron showed us the proper way to peel a hard boiled egg. After the tour our meeting was held at Melissa Mundy's. We discussed yard sales. Refreshments were served by Melissa Mundy.

MADISON LIVEWIRES

By Jeff Watkins
Members met at the home of Stacey and Valerie Swoyer on June 28. Our guest speaker, Deputy Bill Dountz, talked to us on safety. We thank him for coming. Candy money was turned in. We will send $30 to help pay scales and gates for the hog barn at the fairgrounds. Refreshments were served by Stacey and Valerie Swoyer and Lori and Tom Palsgrove. The next meeting will be held at the home of Jon, Beth and Jeff Watkins on July 12, at 8 p.m.

DANDY DOODLERS

By Bonnie Riffle
The Dandy Doodlers met at 908 Lincoln Drive on June 25. Mrs. Allen showed us how to make little dough animals. The next meeting will be held at 908 Lincoln Drive on July 12, at 9:30 a.m.

NOTIONS AND POTIONS

By Cindy Lockard
Club members met at the home of Angie Noggles on June 23. Mrs. Noggle, cooking advisor, assisted girls taking foods projects to prepare a complete meal for lunch from the project book. On June 28, girls cooked breakfast from a menu in their project books at Hargus Lake. We met at 7:30 a.m. For recreation we hiked 3 miles around the lake. Plans were made for another cookout during the 2nd week of July. The next meeting will be held at the home of our advisor, Mrs. Bill Lockard, on July 12, at 7:30.

SUPER DUDES

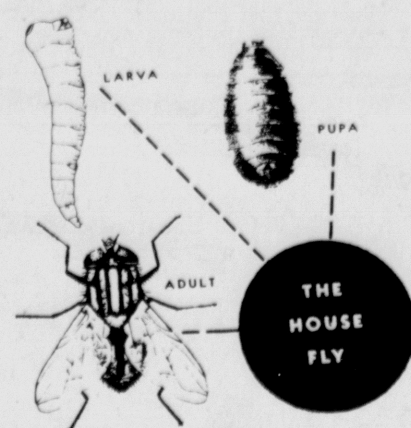

By Judy Graves
The Super Dudes met at the Ashville Village Methodist Church on June 24. Barry Williams gave a demonstration on the making of macrame necklaces. Members discussed the arts and crafts projects and the photography projects for the fair. During the meeting we worked on macrame necklaces. During warm, spring weather house fly populations build up rapidly! The house fly is a constant danger to man and animals.

This fly may carry several important diseases and parasites, such as typhoid, dysentery, diarrhea, cholera, tuberculosis and intestinal worms. The house fly breeds and feeds in garbage, manure and other moist decomposing organic matter.

Should disease organisms be present, flies can transmit diseases on their hairy bodies and digestive tracts in addition to contaminating foods, especially at outdoor picnics, by walking, feeding upon, and excreting on them.

For successful house fly control, one must begin an early control program before the flies become numerous. Here are some suggestions:

1. Eliminate the breeding sites. All garbage and refuse containers should have solid bottoms and tight-fitting lids. Dispose of garbage at least once a week and ideally more often during the warm summer months. Dispose of pet droppings and avoid excessive amounts of pet food left uneaten outside the house. Eliminate low, wet spots in the lawn and other places by use of clean fill-dirt. Practice good, basic sanitation measures.
2. Use of fly screens. Keep the window and door screens in good repair to prevent house fly entry into the home. Be sure that the screen doors swing outward and not inward.

Use at least 14 or 16 meshes to the inch in screens to keep out troublesome house flies and other nuisance insects. It is best to use copper, aluminum, bronze, plastic or other rust-resisting alloy screens.

3. Control flies in the house. (a.) For the flying insects, the use of an aerosol spray of dichlorvos (Vapona), or pyrethrins plus piperonyl butoxide will give excellent knock-down. Repeat treatments usually are needed. The dead flies should be swept up and discarded.

(b.) Dichlorvos (Vapona) resin strips give good control in tight, enclosed areas. Use one strip for every 1,000 cubic feet of space. Dichlorvos resin strips must not be used in kitchens, restaurants, or areas where food is prepared, or served. Do not place these strips in hospitals or clinic rooms such as patient's rooms, wards, nurseries, operating or emergency room areas. Do not use in any room where infants, the sick, or aged are ill or will be present for any extended period of confinement. Do not hang these strips from light fixtures or heat sources. Always follow the label directions and precautions.

(c.) The use of the "ole fly swatter" or folded newspaper as a swatter is still practical and preferred over pesticide control measures when fly populations are low. Also, the use of sticky fly paper strips may be practical in certain situations.

4. Control flies outside the house. It is wise to treat surfaces where the flies rest, especially around the doors and windows. Sprays of chlorpyrifos (Dursban), Diazinon (Spectracide), dichlorvos (Vapona), malathion — premium grade, propoxur (Baygon), or ronnel (Korlan) all give excellent control when used according to label directions. Sprays should be directed on garbage cans and decomposing compost piles, if practical. Treat garbage cans regularly when they are empty. Maintain tight-fitting lids. Boron (Borax) powder can be sprinkled beneath the garbage, or refuse container to kill the immature stage (maggots) of the house fly.

In 1776, farmers were called "embattled" . . . poems were written about them . . . monuments were erected to their memory.

Today's farmers lack only a poet.

The enemy has changed but the battle is no less real . . . man's ability to produce versus man's need to consume. Once again, the American farmer is in the forefront of the struggle. And once again, his industry, courage and efficiency will be his lasting and truly important monument to a future yet unborn. The Pickaway Grain Company salutes the American farmer and his vast and vital role in the food producing industry of the world.

Details Sketchy In Police Arrest

A Circleville man, William Uhl, 35, 309 E. Franklin St., is being held in City Jail under $15,000 bond for obstructing justice and intimidation.

However, details of the Friday night incident which led to his arrest are sketchy. The arrest was made by Circleville Police Sgt. Jim Francis.

Uhl was the subject of a multi-county search around 10 p.m. Friday, according to a report submitted by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Jim Fite.

He was apparently wanted at that time for the assault and kidnapping of Carol Uhl, 200 Crites Road, the deputy said.

However, that information could not be confirmed at the police department.

Court Hears Two Cases

Only two cases were completed last week in Pickaway County Juvenile Court. The first involved the placement of a runaway girl in the Outreach Center in Pataskala.

The court also granted permission for a 17-year-old boy and a 16-year-old girl to marry.

Three cases were transferred to

Astros Turn Back Reds, 10-8 3-2

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joaquin Andujar says he holds no grudge against the team he dreamed of playing for.

"It's a funny feeling facing them. I call Tony Perez my father. And Pete Rose is my favorite player," said Andujar, after beating the Cincinnati Reds for the third straight time this season.

Propelled by Cesar Cedeño's blazing bat, the Houston Astros swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati Friday night, winning the opener 10-8 and the nightcap 3-2 behind Andujar's pitching.

"I hold no hard feelings," said Andujar, "but now somebody knows I am not a Class AA pitcher."

Traded by Cincinnati during the winter, Andujar feels he deserved a spot on the Reds roster in 1975. But he ended up back with the Reds Class AAA farm team.

"Then, after six days, they sent me to Class AA. I am not Class AA pitcher. I told the manager at Indianapolis 'I am going to show you.' I went because I knew I was going to be in the big leagues some day."

The rap on Andujar was that he possessed a hot temper and a tendency toward wildness. New-found self control has helped keep his pitches in the strike zone, says Andujar.

"I don't push hard anymore. Every second you get older," he philosophized. "I just try to play hard all the time all the time, like Pete Rose. He is my man."

"I know I have to take the good with the bad. Tonight I am on the moon. Tomorrow I could be back on the ground," he said.

Meanwhile Cedeño was celebrating the end of a slump with some pre-Fourth of July fireworks. His 14th inning two-run homer provided the winning margin in the opener and his two-run double in the eighth cracked a 1-1 deadlock in the nightcap.

"It's a funny game," said Cedeño, who had seven hits for the night while passing the 1,000-hit plateau. "The only ball I hit hard in the second game was caught."

His game-winning double arched lazily into right field, dropping inches in front of Ken Griffey's outstretched glove.

His average had dropped 50 points in recent weeks, from .320. "I'm picking up again. It's something you can't explain. A good hitter should get a hit anytime he wants."

After raking Reds' pitching for 25 hits in the opener, the Astros got only five off Fred Norman in the nightcap. Cedeño had three. "How do you figure it? Fred Norman is the only guy in the league who really gives me trouble."

The Reds wasted a 4-1 lead in the opener, then matched Houston's three-run outburst in the 11th and, after giving up three more in the 14th, nearly tied it again. Astros reliever Gene Pentz shut the door by striking out George Foster with the bases loaded and one run in. Foster, who had earlier extended his hitting streak to 17, sat out the nightcap with an aggravated shoulder.

Tonight, the Reds send Santo Alcala, 7-2, against Mike Cosgrove, 3-4.

Andy Messersmith is hitting his stride — both on the mound and at the plate.

Paid mainly to pitch, the right-hander is giving the Atlanta Braves not only good hurling these days, but a bonus in the hitting department.

Friday night, Messersmith had three hits and a sacrifice in four at-bats and knocked in two runs as the Braves beat the San Francisco Giants 7-2.

Messersmith pitched a sixhitter for his seventh straight complete game and raised his record to 8-6.

Elsewhere in the National League, the San Diego Padres beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3; the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the Montreal Expos 3-0; the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the Philadelphia Phillies 10-9 in 10 innings; the New York Mets tripped the Chicago Cubs 2-1 and the Houston Astros took a doubleheader from the Cincinnati Reds, 10-8 in 14 innings and 3-2.

Messersmith knocked in the game's first run with a thirdinning single following a double by Rob Belloir. An error and singles by Darrell Evans and Dave Rader gave the Giants an unearned run in the fourth, but the Braves went ahead to stay, with two runs in the fifth off John Montefusco, 7-8.

Padres 6, Dodgers 3

Alan Foster and Butch Metzger combined to pitch a sevenhitter as San Diego beat Los Angeles. Foster scattered all the Dodgers' hits before he was relieved by Metzger in the eighth inning. The reliever recorded his eighth save of the season. Foster improved his record to 3-4. The Padres collected 10 hits off loser Don Sutton, 7-8.

Cardinals 3, Expos 0

Jerry Murphy and Don Kessinger drove home fifth-inning runs and St. Louis went on to defeat Montreal behind Lynn McGlothen's five-hit, nineshrikeout performance. The scoring by the Cardinals, their first in 23 innings, came at the expense of Montreal left-hander Woodie Fryman, 8-6.

Pirates 10, Phillies 9

Pinch-hitter Bill Robinson hit a bases-empty home run in the 10th inning to give Pittsburgh its victory over Philadelphia. Robinson's leadoff homer spoiled a determined rally by the Phillies, who overcame an early 8-2 deficit with the help of a grand slam homer by Dick Allen and three ninth-inning runs.

Mets 2, Cubs 1

Jerry Koosman pitched onehit baseball before giving up two singles with two out in the ninth inning and Ron Hodges singled in the winning run as New York beat Chicago. Before the New York left-hander gave up singles to Bill Madlock and Jerry Morales with one out left in the game, the only hit he had allowed was a first-inning single to Morales.

K.C. Royals Defeat Oakland, 8-5

Red Sox blanked the Milwaukee Brewers 3-0.

Twins 6, Angels 5

Rod Carew drove in three runs with a homer and double and Craig Kusick's pinch single in the fifth inning sent Butch Wynegar home with the winning run as the Twins saddled Andy Hassler with his 17th consecutive setback. Hassler, 0-6 this season after dropping his last 11 decisions in 1975, came on in the third inning after the Angels erased a 5-0 deficit and tied the score. He allowed only three hits the rest of the way but one run he yielded was enough to make him a loser.

White Sox 1, Rangers 0

Bart Johnson maintained his mastery over Texas by outdueling Bert Blyleven with a five-hitter, giving him a 7-0 career record over the Rangers. Jorge Orta singled home the game's only run in the first inning as the White Sox snapped a nine-game home losing streak. Blyleven had won his last two outings by 1-0 scores, both in 10 innings.

Yankees 7, Indians 1

Chris Chambliss slammed a three-run homer and Lou Piniella added a two-run shot, helping Catfish Hunter to his 10th victory. The triumph ended New York's losing string at three games and moved the Yankees seven games ahead of the Indians in the AL East. Hunter gave up six hits, including George Hendrick's 13th home run in the second inning. The Yankees chased Cleveland starter Rick Waits with four runs in the first inning.

Orioles 2, Tigers 1

Baltimore wasted numerous early scoring chances and then beat the Tigers on Mark Belanger's two-out broken-bat double in the seventh inning. Belanger also doubled and scored the Orioles' first run in the third inning while Jim Palmer won his 10th game of the year and fourth in a row with a five-hitter.

Red Sox 3, Brewers 0

Dick Pole and Jim Willoughby teamed up on an eighthitter and ex-Brewer Bobby Darwin homered in the second inning.

Asked if he especially enjoyed homering against his former club, Darwin replied: "No, not really. I'm just glad we won the game. I proved I could hit if I was given the chance. I never got it here."

Winner Chris Evert Eyes Prize Money

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Chris Evert, her second Wimbledon crown safely won, can now turn her attention back to getting equal prize money as the men.

Chris, from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., is the top money winner in women's tennis, and is also president of the Women's Tennis Association.

Earlier in the tournament, the WTA threw a bombshell at the Wimbledon committee by announcing its women would not play here next year unless they shared with the men. At present, the women get 80 per cent of the men's share.

In Saturday's men's singles final, Ilie Nastase, the temperamental Romanian, met Sweden's Bjorn Borg.

Asked after her 6-3, 4-6, 8-6 final victory over Evonne Goolagong of Australia Friday whether she would be coming back to defend her title next year — Wimbledon's centennial year — she replied with a flat "No, unless parity of pay is agreed."

So far, the tournament committee has refused to meet the women's demands.

Chris has said 40 women have signed a declaration not to compete unless their demands are met, but Friday a rift appeared in the WTA ranks when Patti Hogan, the Wightman Cupper from La Jolla, Calif., who is also on the WTA board of directors, wrote to the London Times calling the move "folly."

Miss Evert said after her win, "I gave a lot of time to the WTA meeting with the championship committee during the first week. In the second week I tried to concentrate on my tennis. I will give parity further thought — the top players are still adamant."

Ness Team Takes PCC Couples Golf

Ken and Joann Ness captured both low gross and low net in Pickaway Country Club Friday Night Couples Golf.

Jack and Dee Hutchinson were second low gross while Dave Gillespie and Marie Myers took second place low net.

Jack Hutchinson was the men's winner in low putts while Alma Brinkley, Evelyn Brooks, Elsie Edstrom, Faith Fraser, Marie Myers and Joann Ness all tied for low putts in the ladies division.

Rochester Red Wings Defeat Toledo, 8-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Red Wings are flying. The Rochester team won its 12th in a row Friday night as Rich Dauer belted a three-run homer, to lead his team over Toledo, 8-2, in International League play.

In other games, Memphis downed Richmond, 8-2, and Charleston blasted Tidewater, 9-2.

Longest National League game in April required four hours and 46 minutes. It went 17 innings with the New York Mets beating the Cardinals in St. Louis.

Astros Turn Back Reds, 10-8, 3-2

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joaquin Andujar says he holds no grudge against the team he dreamed of playing for.

"It's a funny feeling facing them. I call Tony Perez my father. And Pete Rose is my favorite player," said Andujar, after beating the Cincinnati Reds for the third straight time this season.

Propelled by Cesar Cedeño's blazing bat, the Houston Astros swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati Friday night, winning the opener 10-8 and the nightcap 3-2 behind Andujar's pitching.

"I hold no hard feelings," said Andujar, "but now somebody knows I am not a Class AA pitcher."

Traded by Cincinnati during the winter, Andujar feels he deserved a spot on the Reds roster in 1975. But he ended up back with the Reds Class AAA farm team.

"Then, after six days, they sent me to Class AA. I am not Class AA pitcher. I told the manager at Indianapolis 'I am going to show you.' I went because I knew I was going to be in the big leagues some day."

The rap on Andujar was that he possessed a hot temper and a tendency toward wildness. New-found self control has helped keep his pitches in the strike zone, says Andujar.

"I don't push hard anymore. Every second you get older," he philosophized. "I just try to play hard all the time all the time, like Pete Rose. He is my man."

"I know I have to take the good with the bad. Tonight I am on the moon. Tomorrow I could be back on the ground," he said.

Meanwhile Cedeño was celebrating the end of a slump with some pre-Fourth of July fireworks. His 14th inning two-run homer provided the winning margin in the opener and his two-run double in the eighth cracked a 1-1 deadlock in the nightcap.

"It's a funny game," said Cedeño, who had seven hits for the night while passing the 1,000-hit plateau. "The only ball I hit hard in the second game was caught."

His game-winning double arched lazily into right field, dropping inches in front of Ken Griffey's outstretched glove.

His average had dropped 50 points in recent weeks, from .320. "I'm picking up again. It's something you can't explain. A good hitter should get a hit anytime he wants."

After raking Reds' pitching for 25 hits in the opener, the Astros got only five off Fred Norman in the nightcap. Cedeño had three. "How do you figure it? Fred Norman is the only guy in the league who really gives me trouble."

The Reds wasted a 4-1 lead in the opener, then matched Houston's three-run outburst in the 11th and, after giving up three more in the 14th, nearly tied it again. Astros reliever Gene Pentz shut the door by striking out George Foster with the bases loaded and one run in. Foster, who had earlier extended his hitting streak to 17, sat out the nightcap with an aggravated shoulder.

Tonight, the Reds send Santo Alcala, 7-2, against Mike Cosgrove, 3-4.

Andy Messersmith is hitting his stride — both on the mound and at the plate.

Paid mainly to pitch, the right-hander is giving the Atlanta Braves not only good hurling these days, but a bonus in the hitting department.

Friday night, Messersmith had three hits and a sacrifice in four at-bats and knocked in two runs as the Braves beat the San Francisco Giants 7-2.

Messersmith pitched a sixhitter for his seventh straight complete game and raised his record to 8-6.

Elsewhere in the National League, the San Diego Padres beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-3; the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the Montreal Expos 3-0; the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the Philadelphia Phillies 10-9 in 10 innings; the New York Mets tripped the Chicago Cubs 2-1 and the Houston Astros took a doubleheader from the Cincinnati Reds, 10-8 in 14 innings and 3-2.

Messersmith knocked in the game's first run with a thirdinning single following a double by Rob Belloir. An error and singles by Darrell Evans and Dave Rader gave the Giants an unearned run in the fourth, but the Braves went ahead to stay, with two runs in the fifth off John Montefusco, 7-8.

Padres 6, Dodgers 3

Alan Foster and Butch Metzger combined to pitch a sevenhitter as San Diego beat Los Angeles. Foster

scattered all the Dodgers' hits before he was relieved by Metzger in the eighth inning. The reliever recorded his eighth save of the season. Foster improved his record to 3-4. The Padres collected 10 hits off loser Don Sutton, 7-8.

Cardinals 3, Expos 0

Jerry Murphy and Don Kessinger drove home fifth-inning runs and St. Louis went on to defeat Montreal behind Lynn McGlothen's five-hit, ninestrikeout performance. The scoring by the Cardinals, their first in 23 innings, came at the expense of Montreal left-hander Woodie Fryman, 8-6.

Pirates 10, Phillies 9

Pinch-hitter Bill Robinson hit a bases-empty home run in the 10th inning to give Pittsburgh its victory over Philadelphia. Robinson's leadoff homer spoiled a determined rally by the Phillies, who overcame an early 8-2 deficit with the help of a grand slam homer by Dick Allen and three ninth-inning runs.

Mets 2, Cubs 1

Jerry Koosman pitched onehit baseball before giving up two singles with two out in the ninth inning and Ron Hodges singled in the winning run as New York beat Chicago. Before the New York left-hander gave up singles to Bill Madlock and Jerry Morales with one out left in the game, the only hit he had allowed was a first-inning single to Morales.

K.C. Royals Defeat Oakland, 8-5

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

AP Sports Writer

A left-hander wearing Vida Blue's uniform pitched for the Oakland A's Friday night but it will be a while longer before the real Vida Blue stands on the mound.

Appearing for the first time in three weeks following his controversial $1.5 million sale to the New York Yankees that subsequently was nullified by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, Blue was rapped for four runs in the first inning as the Kansas City Royals thumped the A's 8-5.

"Its going to be spring training all over for me, I guess," said Blue, who lasted into the sixth inning, was charged with six runs on seven hits and suffered the loss.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Chicago White Sox edged the Texas Rangers 1-0, the Minnesota Twins nipped the California Angels 6-5, the Yankees trimmed the Cleveland Indians 7-1, the Baltimore Orioles shaded the Detroit Tigers 2-1 and the Boston

Red Sox blanked the Milwaukee Brewers 3-0.

Twins 6, Angels 5

Rod Carew drove in three runs with a homer and double and Craig Kusick's pinch single in the fifth inning sent Butch Wynegar home with the winning run as the Twins saddled Andy Hassler with his 17th consecutive setback. Hassler, 0-6 this season after dropping his last 11 decisions in 1975, came on in the third inning after the Angels erased a 5-0 deficit and tied the score. He allowed only three hits the rest of the way but one run he yielded was enough to make him a loser.

White Sox 1, Rangers 0

Bart Johnson maintained his mastery over Texas by outdueling Bert Blyleven with a five-hitter, giving him a 7-0 career record over the Rangers. Jorge Orta singled home the game's only run in the first inning as the White Sox snapped a nine-game home losing streak. Blyleven had won his last two outings by 1-0 scores, both in 10 innings.

Yankees 7, Indians 1

Chris Chambliss slammed a three-run homer and Lou Piniella added a two-run shot, helping Catfish Hunter to his 10th victory. The triumph ended New York's losing string at three games and moved the Yankees seven games ahead of the Indians in the AL East. Hunter gave up six hits, including George Hendrick's 13th home run in the second inning. The Yankees chased Cleveland starter Rick Waits with four runs in the first inning.

Orioles 2, Tigers 1

Baltimore wasted numerous early scoring chances and then beat the Tigers on Mark Belanger's two-out broken-bat double in the seventh inning. Belanger also doubled and scored the Orioles' first run in the third inning while Jim Palmer won his 10th game of the year and fourth in a row with a five-hitter.

Red Sox 3, Brewers 0

Dick Pole and Jim Willoughby teamed up on an eighthitter and ex-Brewer Bobby Darwin homered in the second inning.

Asked if he especially enjoyed homering against his former club, Darwin replied: "No, not really. I'm just glad we won the game. I proved I could hit if I was given the chance. I never got it here."

Fuzzy Zoeller Takes Milwaukee Golf Lead

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Fuzzy Zoeller, a 24-year-old former Indiana amateur champion, fired his second successive six-under-par 66 for a 36-hole total of 132, to take the lead in the Greater Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament.

Zoeller's game Friday's put him a stroke ahead of runnerup Dave Hill. Zoeller's round, in which he birdied four of his first six holes and showed eight birdies for the day, gave him the third best score for the first 36 holes of a pro tournament this year. Ray Floyd had a 13-under 131 en route to his Master's title, and Roger Maltbie was 12-under at 130 at Phoenix.

Zoeller shot his round in the morning, long before he was established as the second-round leader, but he said he expected minimal pressure in his final two rounds.

Mac McLendon, whose second-round 69 tied him with Johnny Jacobs for third place at eight-under 136, thinks Zoeller is for real — at least on the 7,010-yard Tuckaway Country Club course, which has been a tonic for the pros' confidence. Fifty-five of the 83 who survived the 145 cutoff point bettered par for the first two rounds.

"I'm not that familiar with Fuzzy, but I know he's a long hitter and this course is a long hitter's paradise," McLendon said.

Zoeller, who earned only $7,318 as a tour rookie and came here ranked 100th on this year's earning list with $11,779, surprised even himself with his torrid two rounds. His best previous showing this year was a ninth-place tie at Tallahassee and he made the cut in only nine of the 20 earlier meets in which he entered.

"There were so many birdies, I don't know what to think," he said. "It was almost birdie at will, I guess. This is something unusual for me."

Each of them expects his team to do just that.

"There's no pressure on us," said Martin after his team ended a three-game skid with a 7-1 rout of the Indians Friday night. "We're the team seven games ahead. If we win three of four — and I expect us to — they're in trouble."

Robinson, looking far from defeated after the one-sided contest, said, "We know what we'll have to do. We can still win three of four and we'll be around come September."

The six-hit pitching of New York ace Jim "Catfish" Hunter, 10-7, and home runs by former Indians Chris Chambliss and Lou Piniella were the keys to Friday night's triumph, which also ended a three-game winning string by the Indians.

The loss dropped secondplace Cleveland seven games behind the Yankees in the American League East Division race.

Muhammad Ali's Clots Superficial

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Muhammad Ali earned about a million dollars a punch for throwing six punches in his much ballyhooed and equally criticized martial arts match against Antonio Inoki, and boxing's heavyweight champion paid a price by coming out of the bout with blood clots in his legs.

But the blood clots, which had greatly alarmed Ali's followers when he was hospitalized Thursday, were deemed to be superficial Friday by the 34-year-old champion's physician.

Henry Hill Winner Of Latonia Feature

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Henry Hill went to the outside early at Latonia Friday night and came on in the stretch to win the $5,000 James K. Hackett Memorial race by a head.

The annual race honors a jockey killed at the track six years ago. Taking the mile in 2:02, Henry Hill paid $15.00, $5.20 and $3.00. Second-place Jan Almahurst returned $4.20 and $3.00, while show horse was Gusto Omaha at $2.80.

The 3-6 daily double combination of Bullet Bud and Honorable Miss was worth $102.20. A crowd of 2,266 wagered $169,020.

Dream Of Glory Wins Scioto Downs Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dream of Glory zipped the mile in 1:58 4-5, a new track record for aged trotters, in winning the featured race at Scioto Downs Friday night.

The winner moved out from third place midway down the stretch and won the race going away by 1 1/4 lengths to pay $4.20, $2.60 and $2.20. In Control returned $2.80 and $2.20 for second and Dancing Party, $2.20 for show.

The 1-9 daily double combination of Betsy Jo and Marks Guy was worth $118.80.

A crowd of 6,892 wagered $402,009.

THAT'S NOT FAIR, MOM!
ANSWERING MY QUESTION WITH YOUR TRICK QUESTION!

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A period for some reappraisal. Through reflection, you will get a clearer picture of the road ahead, to make plans for further accomplishment and satisfaction.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Your self confidence and poise should be at peak now, so take the initiative and go after what you want. Stumbling blocks will fall by the wayside.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Excellent Mercury influences encourage intellectual pursuits, community interests and written matters. Day spells action. Plan — and act — wisely.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Don't let your impulses dominate logic — especially in situations where finances are involved. Recklessness with money now could prove disastrous later.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Personal relationships under something of a cloud. Be especially tactful in situations where money is involved.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Some intrigue evident. Keep involvement to a minimum. Go your sturdy way, unaffected by pettiness or deception.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Avoid tendencies toward emotionalism, impatience with obstacles. You have no opponents so strong that they can't be handled with persuasiveness and good will.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Avoid making hasty decisions. Look more closely into all situations. There may be values not seen at a cursory glance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A stimulating day! Stellar aspects give new impetus to all worthwhile undertakings. Especially favored: family interests, community projects, travel.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Don't be disappointed if a planned trip is called off. It could be for the best. Evening social activities promise to be lively.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Distant interests take the spotlight. You may now be able to take a trip that was postponed or you may hear some excellent news from afar.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Your native intuition at a peak. A good day for backing your hunches with zestful, optimistic performance. Travel and romance favored.

YOU BORN TODAY are a steadfast, persevering and fastidious individual; widely talented and imaginative. You can create with great originality or take another's idea and improve it far beyond the author's dreams. You have a great love of heritage and are intensely patriotic. Your sense of responsibility is outstanding and, if you can curb a tendency to be too strict a disciplinarian, would make a most dedicated teacher. Other fields in which you could excel: acting, writing, music, interior decorating or commercial art; in the business world as merchant, financier, real estate operator or economist. Birthdate of: Nathaniel Hawthorne, Amer. author; Calvin Coolidge, 30th Pres., U.S.A.; Stephen Foster, Amer. songwriter.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
I S L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Charge Man After Fight With Knife

A Greenfield man has been charged with felonious assault and disorderly conduct by Circleville Police following a stabbing incident early Saturday morning.

Michael Patterson, 27, is being held under $15,100 bond on the two charges. He apparently stabbed Edward Wells, 25, Route 1, Stoutsville, during a fight in the parking lot of Jack's Tavern 2:30 a.m. Saturday.

Wells, who required 12 stitches to close a stab wound to his left hand, was also charged with disorderly conduct by Ptl. Jim Ford and Ken Henn.

The 18-inch long knife had a 12-inch blade, the officers said.

ADC Payments Made To Counties

State Auditor Thomas E. Ferguson's office announced today the July distribution of $35,122,451 in Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) to 569,333 recipients in Ohio's 88 counties. The 1,146 recipients in Pickaway County will receive $71,892.

Ferguson said the amount does not include the weekly ADC auxiliary payments which will be made primarily to new recipients throughout the month.

The auxiliary payments in June totaling $2,153,523, coupled with the main June distribution of $35,391,080, boosted that month's total to $37,544,603.

Ferguson added that the ADC distribution does not reflect food stamp allowances to the recipients. The state welfare department distributes food stamps, and ADC payments to those recipients choosing to receive stamps are reduced accordingly.

Ferguson noted that the main July payment went to 5,041 less recipients than the one in June and decreased by $268,629 from the one last month.

ADC payments are made to families with one parent or one unemployed parent on the basis of family size and financial resources. The ADC program is funded primarily by federal and state governments.

Cloverettes Paint Barrels For Fair

The members of the Cloverettes 4-H Club have painted trash barrels for the Pickaway County Fair as a community project.

The barrels are painted red, white and blue in keeping with the bicentennial theme.

St. Joseph Church Directory Being Made

St. Joseph's Church is in the midst of having a Parish Picture Album (Church Directory) made by United Church Directories of Galion.

Four photography days in June have been completed. Due to the full load of the already scheduled days of July 16 and 17, an extra day has been added, July 15 from 4 to 9 p.m.

Family pictures are being taken in St. Joseph's School.

Coordinators for this project are Mrs. Myron Schelb, layout; Mrs. Frank Plescia, publicity; Mrs. Paul J. Howley, telephone, assisted by Mrs. John Lake Jr. and Mrs. Joseph Ebbrecht.

Mrs. Howley reports several time slots are still available for the July 15 date.
